

WOMEN LEADING DELAWARE Education

The Women Leading Delaware Education Conference is a networking and professional learning event for leaders to convene for an impactful day of connection, introspection, and inspiration.

The keynote presentation will feature Valerie Truesdale, Ph.D., Assistant Executive Director American Association School Administrators (AASA). She leads AASA professional learning programs, including Women in School Leadership, Wallace grants, strategic partnerships, professional learning cohorts and consortia.

Dr. Truesdale previously served as superintendent in two districts, as well as chief learning officer, and as chief technology and transformation officer. She brings experience in rural, suburban and urban settings to support AASA's members.
